

Jocelyn Shek

Los Angeles, CA • jocelynshek@college.harvard.edu • (310) 405-5877 • jocelynshek.github.io

Education

Harvard University

A.B., Joint Concentration in Sociology and Statistics (Data Science track)

Cambridge, MA

Expected May 2027

Activities: Course Assistant and Peer Concentration Advisor, Department of Sociology

Relevant Coursework: Visualization (CS 171); Code, Data, and Art (CS 73); Introduction to Statistical Inference (STAT 111)

Awards: The Pudding Cup Honorable Mention; Center for Integrity in News Reporting Finalist (NBC's "Vaccine Divide")

Experience

The Pudding

Virtual

Freelance Data Journalist (In Progress)

July 2026 – Present

- Building a narrative-driven visual story about billboards in California
- Constructed geospatial image scraping and analysis pipeline using Google Maps and LLM APIs

The Minnesota Star Tribune

Minneapolis, MN

Data Reporting Intern

Jun. 2026 – Aug. 2026

- Developed rigorous data analysis pipelines in Python for enterprise storytelling across topics
- Conducted drive time and geospatial analysis using QGIS, Census data, and scripted automation
- Created static and interactive graphics using Datawrapper, Illustrator, ai2html, and Svelte
- Wrote data-driven stories for a statewide audience, conducting dozens of interviews to bolster reporting

NBC News

New York City, NY

Data Graphics and Visualization Intern

Jun. 2025 – Aug. 2025

- Reported 5+ bylined, data-driven articles on diverse national news topics
- Produced 20+ interactive data graphics supporting coverage across desks using Datawrapper and D3
- Collected, cleaned, and analyzed complex datasets using Python (pandas) to support newsroom reporting
- Contributed to breaking news coverage by delivering accurate data analysis and visuals under tight deadlines
- Built tool to automate weekly news quiz creation and supported the technical production of interactive stories

The Harvard Crimson

Cambridge, MA

Staff Writer, Fifteen Minutes

Jan. 2025 – Present

- Report and write narrative and long-form investigative pieces for Fifteen Minutes, The Crimson's magazine
- Conduct in-depth research and interviews with Cambridge and Harvard students and community members
- Develop story pitches, perform background reporting, and craft pieces from personal introspections to reported features about Harvard/Cambridge, including a prominent investigation of right-wing legal theory at Harvard

Harvard Undergraduate Open Data Project

Cambridge, MA

2025-26 President, 2024-25 Managing Editor

Sept. 2023 – Present

- Led 50+ member data journalism group, overseeing reporting, visualizations, finances, and strategy
- Redeveloped and taught semesterly data journalism bootcamp, mentoring in analysis, visualization, & storytelling
- Edit and contribute to published stories about local and campus issues, guiding reporters through data sourcing, cleaning, and narrative development

Skills & Interests

Development/Analysis: Python (pandas), JavaScript (D3, p5), HTML, CSS, , R, SQL, Git, QGIS, Excel, Google Sheets

Visualization/Design: Datawrapper, Illustrator, Figma, Flourish, Tableau

Interests: Census data, creative visualization, urban policy and infrastructure